Our City Comment & discussion

THOMAS D.

Babson
Writes
Words of Wisdom on Retailing

WE would recommend the reading of the article by Roger W. Babson, the expert trade statistician, which appears elsewhere in this edition of our paper.

This article is on the situation of the retailers in this country and gives enlightenment on how to solve the many problems which confront the retailers. In commenting on their problems he pointed out many subjects of interest to all.

In his comment on "Automobile Trade" he calls attention to traffic regulations, mentioning the no-parking ordinances as causing the loss of considerable trade in the downtown district to the benefit of those located in suburban towns.

This suggests to us that the smaller cities would do well to study carefully before enacting traffic laws which are too restrictive as regard parking cars in downtown districts.

Our editorial of a few days ago suggested that the authorities demand care in parking cars at the proper angle on the part of drivers. This would help the situation considerably as would the keeping of the marked spaces so that they can be discerned.

He also suggests in another paragraph the advisability of collective advertising and general educational work. This is a very important recommendation. A city that is not advertised is sure to lose ground.

The merchants in advertising their city are sure to profit in their own business for every new citizen gained is a prospective customer.

The recent poll taken by the Associated Press shows that 14 states in the middle west have enacted laws for the enforcement of the prohibition laws. This speaks well for the middle west.

A poll of the eastern and western coast states will probably not show up as well. The reason for this would be the larger percentage of the foreign element who have not as yet been imbued with the spirit of Americanism, the spirit to uphold our constitution. Even in Wisconsin, which is looked upon as a state leaning towards the wet idea, the voters were able to withstand the onslaught of the wets and keep them from repealing the dry legislation.

The solidity of the middle west speaks well for an early conclusion to the issue. A movement with as much merit as this will spread both east and west at the same time until the entire country from coast to coast is dry.

FIRE CHIEF NEARS DEATH IN PLANE DISASTER

Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department, narrowly escaped death at 11 o'clock Sunday morning when the airplane he was piloting, enroute from Glendale to Oceanside, near San Diego, became crippled and it was necessary to effect a landing. The plane, close to San Juan Capistrano, crashed and the engine exploded while the plane was about 1,500 feet in the air and was making about 45 miles an hour. Immediately below the flyers at that time was a boulder-covered canyon. From his lofty position Chief Lankford was able to make out, in the midst of the rocks, a small patch of green, which later proved to be an alfalfa patch of a ranch house. Lankford, realizing this was his only hope, glided downward and headed straight for that patch of green. His landing was safely made.

The Glendale fire chief was accompanied on his flight by Fred L. Flack, who was acting as his mechanic, and another plane containing Roy Hinchcliffe, pilot, and Charles Davis, mechanic. Hinchcliffe, seeing that the plane driven by Lankford was in trouble, landed close by. Later three of the boys returned to Glendale in the plane operated by Hinchcliffe, while the fourth returned via automobile.

LEONARD TO BATTLE FOR HIS CROWN

Contender Disturbs Six Years of Rest of Champion

BE REAL CONTEST

Handsome Benny May Get Mussed in Fight
Tonight

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 23.—After six years of rather trifling ease, Benny Leonard, the good looking lightweight champion, will have to go to work in the Yank stadium tonight when he meets Lew Tindler, the less handsome challenger from Philadelphia.

For the first time since he won the championship the experts reckon that Leonard will not only have to work but will be forced to serious manual labor if he is to leave the stadium with the crown on his dome.

During the six years of his reign the champion was mostly engaged in preventing an opponent from musing the patent leather sheen of his locks. Twice he has been driven to the point of anger where he was forced to knock out impudent opponents who took liberties with him.

Leonard and Tindler met once before, but the meeting in Jersey City did not assume the laborious proportions that surround the second battle tonight.

The first was a no decision thing and the champion's work for the night consisted only in being on his feet when the bout ended. He was in an erect position at the end of 12 rounds and he won the popular decision by a great finish after Tindler aroused a fury in him by almost knocking him out with a right hand to the stomach.

Jimmy Johnston, promoter of the fight, expects a crowd of 80,000 in the stadium and he figures on counting about $600,000 from the gate. Advance sales have gone beyond $350,000, and many seats still are available for the last minute rush.

Largely because there has been so little Tindler money on the market late odds favor Leonard at 2 to 1 with very little betting.

Most of the money being offered is on knockouts and the round. Despite the fight that Tindler put up against Benny last summer, most of the experts believe that the challenger will carry the handicap that all Leonard opponents have faced in their second meeting with the champion.

Leonard took Tindler none too seriously before their first meeting and his mistake almost cost him the title. He also had difficulty solving the left hand style of the Philadelphia newsboy.

Leonard figures that the first meeting taught him all he needs to know about beating a south paw and that he will be in a position to step out tonight from the first going. He will have to do some stepping, with a decision at the end of the bout and a realization with it that the referees and judges in New York haven't any too much consideration for a champion.

On the books Leonard looks like a winner but Tindler has a fine chance to win if he uses his head and closes his ears. It would not be a surprise by any means to see a new champion walk out of the ring.

The gates to the stadium will be opened at 5 o'clock, the program will start at 8 and the principals for the main bout will have to be in the ring net later than 10 o'clock in accordance with the rules.

Leonard and Tindler will weigh in this afternoon and they have forfeited to make 135 pounds. If Leonard fails to make the weight, the title will be at stake provided Tindler is not over 135 pounds.

The preliminaries consist of Mike Canaro and Jimmy Stewart, four rounds; Tony Lyons and Jimmy Sullivan, six rounds; Babe Herman and Joey Fox, eight rounds; Jack Zivic and Johnny Doney, 10 rounds.

Following the custom of the commission the officials in charge of the program will not be made public before they take their places.

CARMACK HOME IS ENTERED BY THIEVES

The home of C. P. Carmack, 811 South Central avenue, was entered by thieves Saturday night and a number of things of value were taken. Lieutenant Royle has been assigned to this case.

COMMUNITY SERVICE TO GIVE DANCE ON THURSDAY EVENING

Every week has its activities in Community Service. The special feature for this week will be the informal dancing party to be held under the auspices of the dance committee of the social recreation division of Glendale Community Service on Thursday night, July 26, at the Tuesday Afternoon club ballroom. Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson is general chairman in charge of arrangements.

Those desiring to attend must register at the Community Service headquarters at 130 South Brand boulevard in the Citizens' building.

FIGHT FANS CALLED TO THE PRESS

Round by Round Report on Bout of Light-weights

LEONARD-TENDLER

Opening at 6:30 Entire Championship to Be Delivered Round
by Round

The Glendale Daily Press will deliver the round by round Associated Press report of the big lightweight championship fight between Benny Leonard and Lew Tindler in the Yankee stadium, New York, to the fight fans of Glendale, tonight, as usual in all big contests.

Special arrangements have been made to hook up with the ringside. The report will be delivered with that clarity which has marked the delivery by megaphone at the Glendale Daily Press building.

The report which will be given to the fight fans at the Press building will be exclusive to the Press. None of the other newspapers on this circuit of the Associated Press will have so complete and so timely a report on the fight.

This has been made possible only by special negotiations with the Associated Press headquarters. In its efforts to give service on the big thing of the moment, the Glendale Daily Press is unrivaled outside of the big newspapers of Los Angeles city.

WORLD WAR VETS TO ENTERTAIN GEN. PERSHING

To Address Banquet on the "National Defense" in Los Angeles

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—General John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the army, will be entertained by the veterans, reserve officers, national guardsmen and civic leaders next Monday evening during a five hour stay in Los Angeles on his tour of inspection of training camps throughout the country. Plans were made known today by Lieut. Col. H. R. Richmond, chairman of the committee in charge and liaison officer of the Organized Reserves of Southern California.

The American Legion posts here, the Los Angeles sector of the association of the army of the United States, 16th infantry of the California National Guard, and groups of officers of the organized reserve corps have joined in arrangements to present Monday evening, Philip F. Dodson, as head of the American Legion in Los Angeles county, will preside.

General Pershing will address the banquet on "The National Defense."

Community Chest Committee Meeting

Dr. Warren Z. Newton, chairman of the Community Chest committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has summoned members to a meeting to be held tonight at the chamber at 7:30.

MORE NAMES NEEDED FOR NEW LIGHT HIGHWAY

A few more names are required on the petition for the ornamental lights on Glendale avenue, from San Fernando road to Verdugo road, in order to secure action by the Glendale city council, according to an announcement by C. E. Stuart, proprietor of the Glendale Pharmacy. Those wishing to sign one of these petitions will find them at this pharmacy.

PROGRAM OF HARDING'S VISIT HERE

To Afford all Residents
Chance to See the President

OFFICIAL SCHEDULE

Ralph Arnold Will Head
the Party That Will Move Through City

The committees having in charge the President's itinerary while in Southern California are making every effort to afford all residents of the southland an opportunity to see the chief executive and his party at close range.

In furtherance of this a suburban trip is being arranged for Friday, August 3, which will cover miles of boulevard, along which every man, woman and child in Southern California can gather without fear of congestion.

The following is the official schedule of the route: Following the visit to the motion picture studios Friday morning, August 3, the suburban trip committee, headed by Ralph Arnold, will assume charge of the president and his party.

The suburban trip committee will assume charge of the president promptly at 11 o'clock. The out-of-town autos will assemble on Los Feliz boulevard, on either side of the thoroughfare, between Western and the hill to the north. There they will await the coming of the president, who will drive through the double row of automobiles, which will then take their places in the rear of the president's car for the tour.

The party will move from Los Feliz road to Tropicana avenue, to Brand boulevard, to Broadway, reaching Glendale at 11:30. Thence they will proceed along Colorado street to Eagle Rock, arriving there at 11:40; thence Colorado street over the Arroyo Seco bridge, thence east on Colorado street to the Maryland hotel, Pasadena, which will be reached at 12 o'clock.

The president will lunch privately at the Maryland hotel and others of the party will be served a buffet luncheon in the main dining room. Other guests will not be permitted at this time.

The trip will be resumed at 12:30, the party going east on Colorado street to Madison avenue, south to California, east to El Molino, south to Glendale, west to Fair Oaks, south to South Pasadena, which will be reached at 12:40, where the president will stop long enough to plant a tree at the soldier's memorial.

The trip will be resumed by way of Fair Oaks and Monterey road, east on Monterey to Garfield, arriving at San Marino at 12:45. Thence south on Garfield to Main street, Alhambra, which will be reached at 12:50; thence east on Main street to Mission drive, southeast to San Gabriel boulevard, which will be reached at 12:55. Thence southeast to San Gabriel boulevard, through the Montebello oil fields to Rio Hondo bridge which will be reached at 1:15. From there the party will take the Pico road south to Whittier boulevard.

The trip will continue south to Downey road through Rivera, arriving there at 1:35; thence to Downey at 1:45; thence along College avenue and Ocean avenue to Clearview, arriving there at 1:55; thence to Hynes, 2 o'clock.

From there the party will proceed south through the Signal Hill oil district which will be reached at 2:15, entering Long Beach via Ocean avenue at 2:30, proceeding west to Lincoln Park, which is the official gathering place of Long Beach.

Leaving Long Beach the party will pass along Daisy street north to the Anaheim road, west to Canal street, Wilmington, arriving at the Catalina Pier at 2:45, where the president will board the steamers for Catalina Island, where he will enjoy a period of rest.

The committee is urgent that all communities through which the president and his party passes be profusely decorated with large American flags, including the dericks in the oil fields viewed.

BAPTISTS DEMAND INDUSTRIAL FREEDOM

Declaration Presented to World Alliance at Stockholm, Sweden

[By Associated Press]

STOCKHOLM, July 23.—In a declaration presented to the Baptist World Alliance this afternoon the Baptists of the world are called upon to strive for industrial freedom with the same earnestness as they have striven for political and religious liberty in the past. Cooperation rather than competition between capital and labor is proposed as one means to this end, along with a share for the laborer in the profits, direction and control of industry.

The statement upon industrial relations, offered by Dr. J. C. Carville of Folkestone, England, one of the leading Baptists of the world, said in part:

"Man is overwhelmed by the weight and wonder of the new knowledge of the world. Inventive genius has risen to the occasion within the last century. Its rise deserves to displace from our school books the dates of wars and the names of warriors. Palissy, the potter, Davy and Edison with their lamps, Simpson with his chloroform, Ford with his car, and Marconi with his waves have redeemed life from its sordid limitations. Industrialism has a beneficent and beautiful ministry. The breakfast table has a romance of growth, manufacture and travel.

"Two centuries ago England started mass production by machine power, but it led to new excitement of capitalist greed and workers' laziness. A monotonous toll took the romance from toil. And these vices were not unknown in church members, in sweated clergy, in ecclesiastical contracts. Must not Christians try to understand and remedy?

"Baptists advocate peace, not revolution. We are the pioneers of freedom and must secure it industrially as well as religiously and politically. Freeing the slave in the British empire was but a first installment. To new problems we must apply Christ's basic principles: The supreme value of the individual soul, the obligation of service to others, the stewardship of the soul, a new conscience is being quickened and England's tax bill for social service was 1500 millions of dollars last year.

"Here are some reasonable aims for the near future: Co-operation in place of competition and a share for labor in the direction and control as well as the profits of industry. But socialism proposes state ownership and control of both production with the means and distribution or production. What motive force will replace personal advantage? May a citizen disliking the work assigned to him leave the country?

"Marx thought of big capitalists and wage slaves; he did not foresee mammoth companies, including thousands of small capitalists; his theories do not apply to the systems of today. We have to evolve doctrines embodying Christ's spirit—the personality of the worker, the fellowship of owner and workers, good will among all. Let us try to express our creed in the character of our social relations."

SANTA MONICA IS ROUSED BY QUAKE

[By Associated Press]

SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 23.—Spoons parked in a long row of automobiles on the precipitous edge of the Palisades last night were given the fright of their lives when the earth trembled that "struck all Southern California shortly before midnight rocked more than one toward the precipitous cliffs falling away to the Coast highway below in a sheer 150 foot drop.

One young man reported he thought someone was trying to frighten the passengers in his car by pushing it. In a rage he jumped out of the car to chastise the offender and was deeply mystified to find no one near. It wasn't until several hours later that members of this party learned there had been an earthquake.

BURBANK MEXICANS PICKED UP DRUNK

Ignacio Mendoza was arrested on a charge of transporting liquor, and Jose Rodriguez, Juan Delgado and Jos Pisono, all of Burbank, were arrested on a charge of drunkenness by Officer Nunn at the corner of Brand and San Fernando at 12:20 o'clock this morning, according to the Glendale police, which states that a pint of liquor was found in the car in which the men were riding. All of the men were placed in the Glendale jail pending their hearing today.

SPARE TIRES ARE STOLEN FROM CAR

Two spare tires were stolen from the automobile belonging to Ray Bigman as it was parked at the rear of the Pullman Cafe No. 2 Saturday night. Up to this time no trace has been found of the missing articles.

JOY RIDERS RUN DOWN MOTORISTS

W. W. Wilcox of Tujunga
Has Car Demolished
on State Highway

EFFORT TO ESCAPE

Tells Justice Chase He Drove Out of Road to Make Way

W. W. Wilcox of Tujunga had his auto demolished at one o'clock Sunday morning as he was returning from his business in Los Angeles and narrowly escaped demolition himself. He appeared before Judge Harry Chase this morning to ask for a warrant for the arrest of Elton K. Niskern of 1553

Houston street, Los Angeles, who he alleged was driving his father's car on the State highway at a rate of 45 miles or more. He was accompanied by two men friends. Hearing the roar of the approaching car Mr. Wilcox tried to protect himself by hugging the high bank near El Centro avenue and as the car neared him even drove up onto it. It failed to save him, however, as the Niskern car cut in under him with the result described.

He and the men who accompanied him when the complaint was lodged declare that the highway has become a regular race track where all speed regulations are ignored. Mr. Wilcox feels somewhat lame but is surprised to be alive.

FEDERAL RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR MOROSCO CO.

Holding Company Has Liabilities Exceeding
$350,000

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, July 23.—A federal receiver was appointed today for the Morosco Holding company, Inc., a Delaware corporation holding the capital stock of the Morosco Theatre company and the Morosco Productions company.

John Martin Biele was named as receiver under $100,000 bond in connection with a creditor's suit brought by Robert L. Hatch of this city, who alleged that the holding company had liabilities exceeding $350,000.

The holding company, through counsel, admitted the allegations and joined in an application for a receiver.

Hatch's action was based on a note on the holding company for $6,000 payable to August Jensen, which came into Hatch's possession.

The complaint explained that the Morosco Productions company, a California corporation, had important contracts with the Associated First National Pictures, Inc., which engaged in theatrical productions and the making of motion pictures.

Hatch stated that the holding company owed certain banks $200,000 on notes and had no means of meeting these obligations. He urged that efforts be made to preserve valuable assets in leaseholdings of California property in Los Angeles and New York. These leases are said to be worth $300,000 to the company.

Hatch further stated that the company owed Jensen, its president, more than $140,000 for cash contributed and as guarantor of the company's notes.

Hatch set forth that pursuant to an arrangement between the defendant company and its former president, Oliver Morosco, the company took over certain of his obligations to Annie P. Morosco, who Hatch said was a former wife of Oliver Morosco. These obligations, which have matured, amount to $300,000. The company also was alleged to owe Morosco $26,000.

The assets were described by Hatch as including theatrical properties, copyrights and the two leaseholds.

CHARGED WITH ISSUING CHECKS WITHOUT FUNDS

N. D. Dristle of 504 Griswold street was arrested at 9 o'clock Sunday night by Officer Blake, on a charge against him, according to the police department, being the issuance of worthless checks. The complaint was filed this morning, according to Judge Lowe, by J. A. Becker of 114 North Brand, who the department claims, cashed one of the checks.

Tremor Lasted for Ten Minutes Officially

[By Associated Press]

BERKELEY, Calif., July 23.—Mother earth couldn't hit the front row of any musical comedy chorus with the shimmy she pulled down in Southern California last night, the University of California seismograph showed today.

Prof. J. P. Bulwala, in charge of the instrument, said that while the needle was in motion for 10 minutes and showed accurately the location of the tremors as reported in press dispatches, there were no severe vibrations and that while the quake may have been severe locally it couldn't be considered an important tremor.

SOU. CALIF. TAKES INVENTORY ON EARTHQUAKE

Only One Serious Injury to Life; Much Glass Broken

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Southern California cities and towns took inventories on fallen buildings, broken sidewalks, cracked walls and broken plateglass windows today as a result of the quake last night which was felt in practically every district south of the Tehachapi mountains—the dividing line between southern and central California.

Only one injury was reported. George Fisher, of San Bernardino, a lodger in a rooming house, was crushed and seriously injured by falling debris from the new hall of records, which was under construction nearby, and which was seriously damaged.

The county hospital at San Bernardino was damaged to the extent of about $2,500 as a result of plaster falling from most of the rooms. All of the patients escaped injury, and cool-headed work of attendants prevented hysterics and panic.

Wild scenes took place at the Patton insane asylum, where plaster crashed from one of the walls. "Strong arm" methods on the part of attendants were necessary to quiet a number of the more violent patients, who were thrown into the wildest mania and fear.

Plaster fell from the wall of one restaurant in Los Angeles, but no other damage was reported to the police. No one was injured, and no fire calls were turned in. Curiously enough even though thousands upon thousands of people who had never felt the uncanny trembling of the earth before were awakened and rushed to the street, not a single call for the police or for the police ambulance was turned in—not even a false alarm.

Pendulum clocks throughout the city were almost universally stopped throughout the score of cities and towns in the earthquake belt.

Telephone service was temporarily cut off at various spots in Los Angeles, but was restored within an hour. Telegraph service was not interrupted, and operators from all towns along the railroad lines and in Western Union and Postal offices rushed to their keys to report the quake within three minutes.

The quake was made awesome by a great rumbling, as of an approaching thunderstorm. In Los Angeles the noise heightened to a shrill clatter as undulating earth waves, like wind on a field of wheat, moved across the town, rattling every window and breaking many.

Later reports received today showed the strength of the quake centering east and south of San Bernardino and Redlands, and diminishing in intensity as it reached the Imperial valley and Mexican border on the south, and Ventura and Santa Barbara on the north.

Thus far no freak tides or ocean manifestations have been noticed along the coast.

In Cajon Pass many summer cabins on the sheer mountain sides are reported to have been tilted from their flimsy foundations.

At Redlands damage that may reach $25,000 was done by the quake. Portions of the fire-walls of the Studebaker garage building and of the Allen Wheaton building were shaken off, the former falling through the roof of the Sering & Courtney furniture store and burying it with debris. The Wheaton building is one-story and fell upon the sidewalk, causing no heavy damage. Other damage was largely of broken plate glass windows in the business district and falling plastered in stores, with some damage in a few places by bottled merchandise falling from grocery store shelves. Slight cracks appeared in several brick walls. Two city clocks stopped at 11:31 p. m.

GIRL RUNAWAYS MAY BE HEADED THIS WAY

A telegram was received by the Glendale police department asking that local officers be on the lookout for two girls, Blanche Walley, a white girl, and Bertha Perry, an Indian, who are "beating" their way through California. The message was sent by Sheriff F. Richards of Albany, Ore. No trace has yet been secured of the missing girls.

MAY DECIDE ON PLAN FOR BRAND HOTEL

Company Financing Hostelry at California
Called to Meet

TENTATIVE DESIGN

Present Idea is Calls for Four Stories With Court

A meeting of the company which is financing the new hotel to be built on Brand and California, will be held Tuesday night at the office of J. A. Endicott, when it is hoped one of the plans of the five or six architects that are competing, will be chosen so that details and specifications can be worked out as soon as possible.

The tentative design on which the company has agreed calls for an "H" shaped building of four stories, with a central court upon which inside windows will face. The south half on California will be finished for apartments, the balance in rooms and suites for a regular commercial hotel. It will be of the class B type and practically fire proof.

GLENDALIANS HAVE THRILL IN QUAKE

Mrs. Ellis and Dr. Hewen
Caught in Mountains
on Vacation

Mrs. Ellis, secretary of Postmaster Jackson, and Dr. Clara Hewen of this city, had a thrilling night Sunday at Camp Seeley in the San Bernardino mountains where they were spending the week-end. The earthquake there was considerably more severe than here although it did no damage beyond sending earth slides and stones onto the mountain roads. It lasted about two hours during which there was a constant tremble between the more severe tremors and each quake was followed or preceded by an awe-inspiring rumble which reverberated through the hills and which made the two ladies so terrified they could not speak.

Mrs. Ellis drove home this morning via the Waterman canyon road, over which repair posess had been sent to remove boulders which had been shaken down and earth-slides.

Sunday afternoon they had the excitement of a mountain forest fire about a mile from camp which Dr. Hewen helped to extinguish, joining the thousands of men summoned to fight it.

It was an adventurous trip all right but the ladies were glad to get back to good old safe Glendale.

EARTHQUAKE IS FELT IN THE CITY

Glendalians Roused From Sleep by Quiver and Roosters Protest

A vibration like that of heavy street traffic broke the near-midnight sleep of Glendalians, about 11:25 last night, and roused them in their nightgowns for a moment of realization that an earthquake had shaken the city.

From backyards came indignant crows of roosters, while chickens rustled and grumbled.

The shock was over so soon that it was hardly realized excepting by those in houses of more than one story in height.

DAY BY DAY 'YOUR FRIEND AND MINE' AT THE GLENDALE

Day by day in every way the race for honors in the stardom contest recently launched by the Glendale Daily Press is becoming more exciting.

Many are the film fans who have climbed the stairs of the Glendale Daily Press to see the contest manager, D. K. Mitchell, and who have gone away enthusiastically, feeling that what before had seemed a most hopeless impossibility to them was now a dawning reality. To break into the limelight in the film world is no easy task, as anyone who has tried can truthfully say, but this same task can now be accomplished with little difficulty under the rules laid down in this greatest contest the "world of make-believe" has ever known.

Several of these aspirants for film fame have already secured the privilege of a film test and have come under the searching eyes of such great producers and directors as Cecil B. De Mille, William De Mille, Jesse E. Lasky, George Mulford and James Cruze.

"These famous and internationally recognized men are coming to see more than before, for the necessity for new stars, for new screen idols. Consequently they are very anxious to test all possible candidates for the silver screen."

Are you known to have ability for any type of acting? Then, how can you afford to sit back and see this golden opportunity slide by? If you had the confidence in yourself that your friends have in you, you wouldn't think of letting this chance slip.

Imagine playing a role with Douglas Fairbanks, sliding down banisters, jumping fences and doing things that you can't do at home for fear of being thought ridiculous and undignified! And then, think of sitting at tea with Glorious Gloria Swanson gazing into your eyes and smiling at you from across the table, and—best of all—receiving a nice fat pay envelope in return for it! Surely you can't let others get ahead of you who have no greater talent than you possess! You've just got to get in. That's all there is to it!

Glendale can rightly boast that she has given and can give eligible screen talent which in days to come will be heralded as heroes and heroines with brass bands, key to the city, politicians' welcome, and all!

Come folks, get in: the wheels are rolling and the stars are shining. You'll get the spirit of it just come in and see Dwight K. Mitchell, contest manager, in room 2 of the Glendale Daily Press building, and let him start you on the road to stardom.

WEST SIDE OUT FOR L. A. AIRPORT

The following is the resolution submitted to the city council by the West Side Improvement association, urging aid in establishing an airport in Griffith park. It was ordered filed:

"Whereas, the progress and development of all inter-coast cities north and south on the Pacific demands the most modern means of communication for commercial purposes, and

"Whereas, Los Angeles is best situated and suited in atmospheric and climatic conditions to be the terminus of a great aviation business serving national, state and city needs, and

"Whereas, the city of Los Angeles has about 400 acres of land lying along the eastern boundary of Griffith park, immediately west of the City of Glendale, well adapted to aviation purposes, and

"Whereas, it is proposed by the city of Los Angeles to open a great 100 foot boulevard along the boundary of this 400 acres, for a distance of about two miles, as a great public highway, and

"Whereas, this tract is completely isolated from dwellings, now and for all time, by Griffith park on the west and the Los Angeles river on the east, free from pole lines or other obstructions, and will be served by the great West Riverdale drive, for motor connections, and

"Whereas, this tract of land was obtained from the Griffith estate by purchase and not subject to the provisions of the Griffith park bequest, but may be made, by public dedication, the aerial transportation nerve center of the great metropolitan area of which Glendale and the entire San Fernando valley will some day be a substantial part; therefore, be it

"Resolved by the West Glendale Improvement association in meeting assembled on the 10th day of July, 1923, that: The city council of Glendale is hereby requested to use its best efforts to induce the city of Los Angeles to set aside and improve the above-mentioned 400 acres as a great municipal and national airport, subject only to such restrictions and limitations as will best serve the public needs."

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM TOBACCO

Willard Mack's play, "Your Friend and Mine," at the Glendale, has in it every element of popularity—and this accounts for its great success as a spoken drama. The celebrated author-actor was himself seen in it on the stages of the most important theatres in this country, and everywhere it won immediate favor. As a dramatic vehicle it made for itself an exceptionally high place.

As a photoplay, the excellence of the play is even more emphasized. All the drama, tense excitement and unrelenting suspense that were found in it have not only been carried over to the new medium, but have been heightened in the transition. Stiffness of action; novelty in plot structure and situation; and elaborateness of staging are the distinguishing characteristics of the motion picture, "Your Friend and Mine."

Several of the scenes are acted in settings that are staggeringly beautiful. Among these is one which takes place in Greenwich village, New York's Latin quarter, where an elaborately staged soiree takes place. Striking tableaux, groups of classical dancers, scenes from noted plays, demonstrations of hypnotism—all these events are part of the brilliant program which the host arranges for his guests. They make a striking scene in the photoplay. Other attractive settings of real charm are the artist's studio and the home of the wealthy Hugh Stanton.

Men's Bible Class Studies Back of Acts

The Presbyterian Brotherhood members seem to look upon the council chamber of the city hall as a cool place to spend an hour on Sunday morning and at the same time profit by the Scripture expositions given by Keith L. Brooks, formerly editor of The Kings Business, published by the Bible Institute of Los Angeles. Mr. Brooks gave a study covering the eleventh and thirteenth chapters of the Book of Acts.

He showed how the members of the early church were scattered abroad by the persecution arising at the time of the death of Stephen and the Gospel was taken by laymen as far as Antioch. He declared that persecution was the mother of evangelism and that whatever the difficulties for the destruction of the Christian faith usually turns out for the furtherance of the Gospel.

"Some today are trying to remove all antagonism between Christianity and the world," he said, "and develop harmony by watering the Gospel. Yet error was the cause of the antagonism to the truth as revealed in the Bible than at the present time when rationalism is rampant. We may be past the fog and sword as the instruments of persecution, but it is certain that the man who would be true to the Christian faith in these days will not have an altogether easy time of it."

These early days of the church as described in these chapters were days of great activity on the part of laymen. If traveling Christians today would witness as they have opportunity, the purpose of God in this age would soon be accomplished. You will notice that wherever these laymen went, they preached Jesus Christ. They did not start in attacking the customs of the people when they went into a new community, nor did they try to clean up politics or have a house-cleaning of the local government. They believed that more far-reaching results would be brought about by sticking to the divine commission. The sure result of holding to that mission is "The head of the Lord was with them and a great number believed." Is His hand with all the churches today?

If not, are they carrying out His clearly defined purpose for this dispensation?

"Disciples were called Christians first at Antioch." I am glad believers are designated Christians, rather than the antagonistic to the means "The Anointed One"—it is the title of the Divine Son of God. Our creed is in our name. The name Christian intimates the obligation of those who bear it to worship Him as the divine Son, God incarnate, and to obey Him as the One whom God sent into the world to save the world. Alas, the name is utterly inappropriate for some who claim it. In these days for they deny the Deity of Christ, Jesus, or followers of Jesus (the human name) better fits all such.

After Paul preached his first sermon in the synagogue at Antioch, a week of lively discussion among the Jews followed, with the result that the next Sabbath the place was crowded with people who came "to hear the Word of God." Dr. David J. Burrell of New York recently said: "There are multitudes of churches where the old time religion is preached, and rarely, if ever, will you hear their pastors asking with a lamentable voice, 'Why do not the people come to church?' I have yet to hear of any lack of worshippers in churches where the people can listen to the old time religion."

Those who sincerely want a knowledge of God and the hereafter are still drawn to the places where they can hear the Word. It contains a life principle. The biologist knows the composition of a little seed yet he cannot make a seed that will spring forth into life. The Bible may look like other books, but it has a life power in it that no other has and when it gets into the hearts of people, spiritual fruitage is the result.

If poverty is ever abolished every bachelor will either have to marry or act as his own servant.

La Crescenta Personals

C. Matley of Bakersfield visited Dr. B. H. Smith of 501 South Los Angeles avenue over the weekend.

Members of the La Crescenta bridge club were delightfully entertained at dinner and bridge last Saturday evening at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell at Filtridge. Baskets of colorful flowers centered the tables, when places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Culberson, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert White of Glendale, Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Nettleton, Mrs. J. Jonqueth, Miss Della Bastable, Donald Dewey, Frank S. Anderson of Evanston, Ill., and Daniel Cook.

The total receipts of the garden tea party given last month by Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas has now reached $640, which amount is deposited in the Montrose State bank for the building fund of the Episcopal church to be erected in the near future. Financially and socially this was one of the most successful affairs ever given in La Crescenta.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andrewson of Rosemond avenue left last week for a visit at their old home in Ohio.

Mrs. E. G. Foy and daughter, Miss Charlotte Foy of East Piedmont avenue returned Saturday from a two weeks' stay at Long Beach.

P. N. Hauber of Cleveland, Ohio, and George Nagel of San Francisco, are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hauber of South Ramsdale avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowden of West Mayfield avenue returned last Friday from a motor trip to San Diego and Coronado.

A beach party was one of the happy affairs of the past week enjoyed by a group of the younger set, including Misses Marion Keith, Jessie Conlin, Eva Webb and Messrs Francis Foy, Claxton and Walt Young. Mrs. Elmer Beckett acted as chaperone.

Johnny was not very bright at his lessons, but he was lively. His father asked him if he was pleasing his teacher.

"Oh, yes. Teacher said that if I went on like I was doing he'd give me a soldier."

"A soldier? Do you mean a box of tin soldiers?"

"I suppose so. He only said once, though. I forgot his name."

"Whose name?" asked the puzzled parent.

"The soldier's name. Let me see. Oh, I remember! It was Corporal Punishment."

You can scarcely blame a yacht for jumping up and down when it is put on another tack.

CONDITIONS OF PEACE AWARD OF $100,000

Best Practicable Plan to Preserve Harmony
Is Sought

The first announcement is made today of the conditions of the hundred thousand dollar award created by Edward W. Bok for the "best practicable plan by which the United States may co-operate with other nations to achieve and preserve the peace of the world."

In making the first public statement of the award in early July, the committee in charge of the award stated that the conditions would be announced within a few weeks, or at some time before August 1. All plans received by the committee up to now have been returned to the senders, who have been notified that they will receive copies of the conditions when published.

The conditions define broadly the scope of the plan sought, as follows: "The winning plan must provide a practicable means whereby the United States can take its place and do its share toward preserving world peace, while not making compulsory the participation of the United States in European wars if any such are, in the future, found unpreventable. The plan may be based upon the present covenant of the League of Nations or may be entirely apart from that instrument."

The conditions set forth that the competition is open to every United States citizen, whether by birth or naturalization. Plans may be submitted not only by individuals, but also by organizations, national, state or local.

Every plan submitted must be accompanied by a summary of not over 500 words. The total length of the paper, exclusive of the summary, is not to be over 5,000 words. Manuscripts must be typewritten.

Manuscripts must not bear the author's name, or any identifying sign. Each manuscript must have attached to it a plain sealed envelope containing the author's name and address.

All plans must be received at the offices of the American Peace Award by midnight on November 15 next.

The names of the jury of award will be announced as near September 1 as possible.

It is possible that in addition to the main award of $100,000, several smaller awards may be made. The jury of award may select a plan which is a composite of the best plan or of ideas or sections taken from each of several other plans. If the jury decides to select a composite plan of this kind, there are also offered by Mr. Bok a second, third, fourth and fifth award of $5,000 each, for any plans or portions of plans used by the jury in a composite plan. If, however, the jury of award accepts one plan in full, making no additions to it from other plans, no subsidiary awards will be made.

The main award of $100,000 is to be made in two payments; $50,000 will be paid to the author of the winning plan as soon as the jury of award has selected it. The second $50,000 will be paid to the author if and when the plan, in substance and intent, is approved by the United States senate; or if and when the jury of award decides that an adequate degree of popular support has been demonstrated for the winning plan.

The above is merely a summary of some of the principal conditions. All contestants should have the conditions in full, which after July 25, may be obtained on request at the office of the American Peace Award, 842 Madison Avenue, New York City.

GLENDALE REPRESENTED AT MEETING OF ZUANE

Glendale was represented at the meeting of the Zuane auxiliary to the Oriental lodge that was held Saturday night in Los Angeles by Mrs. Wilbur Storer, Mrs. Ernest Rich, Mrs. Bronnenberg, Mrs. Evelyn Hall and others. The Zuane's has just been organized in Los Angeles and the chapter is awaiting for the charter. There will be a special called meeting on Friday, July 27, at 1:30 o'clock.

At the close of the meeting Saturday night the Zuane's joined the Orientals in a moon feast at 12 o'clock. The regular meetings of the Zuane's are held the first and third Saturdays of each month at 220 1/2 South Spring street, Los Angeles. The Orientals are a branch of the Odd Fellows organization.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY ALLIANCE HOLDS PICNIC

The Sunday school of the Christian Missionary Alliance of which Rev. C. H. Christman is pastor, had a picnic Saturday afternoon at Brookside park, attended by about 200 parents and children. A jolly afternoon of games was enjoyed, the picnic dinner being served about 5 o'clock.

GLENDALIANS MRS. WIDOWS TO REPORT UPON TRIP NORTH STUDY COMMUNITY SERVICE WORK

Find Montana and Canadian Roads in Bad Condition
Leaves for Chicago to Attend University Course

Accompanied by Miss Mabel Hutchings and with Don Barton at the wheel, Mrs. Louise Purnell of 353 Ivy street has just returned from a six weeks' auto and camping trip to Yellowstone Park, Glacier Park, Lake Louise (Canada), Mount Ranier and Crater Lake. In Montana and Canada they found road conditions bad. For ten days they traveled in rain and on numerous occasions had to carry rocks to build up the roads so they could get out of holes. They also had to get teams to pull them out.

In Cardston, Providence of Alberta, they were in time to see the beautiful new Mormon temple which will be dedicated August 1 and after that date no gentiles will be permitted to enter it. The temple was started in 1915 and has cost more than a million dollars.

After leaving Cardston the party headed for Banff to be at the opening of the Banff-Windermere road over the Canadian Rockies, and through the Kootenay National forest. Too much cannot be said, Mrs. Purnell declares, of this beautiful part of the trip where the most wonderful roads have been made through the mountains.

After passing through British Columbia they entered the good United States and gave three hip, hip hurrahs when they crossed the line. In traveling through Washington and Oregon they saw signs posted all along the way: "Help yourselves to the fruit." It was delicious fruit and Mrs. Purnell took occasion to make some jam to bring home.

At Mount Ranier they passed through tunnels cut through the snow to afford a passage from one building to another at Paradise Inn.

Mrs. Purnell declares this was the most wonderful of the many auto trips she has taken. She was feeling far from well when she started, but in spite of hard camping conditions, the rain and cold, she and all her party have returned in better health than when they started and without having a sign of a cold during the entire journey. They met processions of touring autos all along the way, five out of six bearing the pennant of Los Angeles county.

MUSIC TEACHERS TO ATTEND ROUNDTABLE

An invitation has been extended to all music teachers in Glendale to attend a meeting of the Teachers' Roundtable of the Glendale Music club. This will be held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, July 25, at the home of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones on Kenneth road, instead of at Hermosa Beach, as was first announced. The teachers are to meet at the home of the curator, Mrs. Eva Cunningham, 114 North Orange street, at 2:45 o'clock and there will be automobiles to take them to the Jones residence.

COLORADO STOCK MAN SETTLES HERE

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ballew of Denver, Colo., are spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dentry of 514 Vine street. Mr. Ballew is a prominent stockman of Colorado. The visitors are agreeably impressed with this city.

What Our Folks Are Doing

Mrs. J. Huesman of 405 West Wilson avenue, returned last week from a trip to Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. S. M. Brooks, 343 North Louise, is the guest of her son, C. J. Thacker, at Van Nuys, and will be home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Hatch and children of North Kenwood street came home Sunday night from an outing at Laguna Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Brown of 339 Myrtle street, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy McIntyre returned Sunday from a week's outing at Coronado Beach.

Mrs. James W. Powell of 505 East Palmer avenue was hostess to a group of former Louisiana friends now residing in Glendale at a dinner party given at her home Friday night in honor of Dr. and Mrs. James A. White, who are visiting here from Alexandria, Louisiana.

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson of 246 North Orange street had as her guests over the week-end her cousins, Miss Eva Jones and Miss Marguerite Jones of Burlington, Vt., who are to teach next year in the Los Angeles high schools. Mrs. Hutchinson and daughter, the Misses Jones and Mrs. R. W. Jessup of Glendale enjoyed a very delightful picnic party at Santa Monica on Saturday.

Robert Rowley, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley, who is motorist across the continent with a fellow graduate from the engineering department of the University of Southern California, when last heard from was reaching Yellowstone park after having traversed northern California and Oregon. The two young men are on their way to Schenectady, N. Y., to take positions with the General Electric company, which has a plant there.

Mrs. W. Q. Widdows of 1246 Winchell avenue will leave Glendale Tuesday morning for Chicago, where she will attend the University of Chicago, taking a course in National Community Service work. The school is under the direction of James Edwards Rogers, who will be assisted by a very able faculty composed of men and women of long experience in various phases of community work. The course covers a wide variety of subjects, including the philosophy of the community service movement, practical community organization, community activities, finances and publicity.

Observation trips will be made to Hull House, Chicago Commons, Laredo, Taft's studio and the various community service activities in Chicago. The school opens on August 6 and closes September 15. Mrs. Widdows will then go to Indianapolis, her former home, for a two weeks' visit. She will return to Glendale about the first of October.

FRIENDS WARM THE HALPMAN RESIDENCE

A group of friends and neighbors of Mrs. J. Halpman were entertained at a house warming of her beautiful new home at 1206 West avenue, Friday. The house was beautifully decorated in a pink and white color scheme, and the hostess was surprised with a gift shower.

It was a luncheon followed by "evening," and covers were laid for eleven, viz., Mesdames M. Hepburn, B. Dunbar, W. Cowley, A. Evans, F. Hynes, L. Seibert, E. Biltz and the hostess. Mrs. Hepburn won first prize, Mrs. Echles the second, Mrs. Seibert the third, and Mrs. Hynes the consolation favor.

METHODIST LADIES' AID TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church are giving an entertainment Tuesday evening at which reports of their "earn a dollar" campaign will be told and the money turned in. Wadsworth Harris, the Y. M. C. A. entertainer, will give a number of readings and refreshments will be served. Mrs. M. L. Ogden is president of the Ladies' Aid.

MILLERS ENTERTAIN WITH "500" PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller entertained at the home at 1042 Linden avenue, Saturday night, with a "500" party. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. J. Halpman, Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Seibert, Mr. and Mrs. George Hynes. First prize favors were won by Mrs. Halpman and Mr. Seibert.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO HAVE BEAN SOCIAL

The social department of the Epworth League of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church will have a bean social Friday night. Nelson Scott is president of the league and will have general charge of the affair.

What Our Folks Are Doing

Mrs. C. D. Lucas and daughter of Yakima, Washington, are visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Banker of 228 North Glendale avenue.

Mrs. A. Albert and daughter of Ogden, Utah, arrived in Glendale yesterday and are guests for the week of Mrs. Albert's sister, Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, 525 North Adams street. Mrs. Albert's mother will accompany her on her return to Ogden.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boothby of 348 West Lexington drive returned Saturday from a four-days trip to San Diego. They visited Tijuana, Coronado and San Diego. Mr. Boothby went to Imperial Valley on a business trip. The Boothbys were accompanied by Miss Golden of Spokane, Wash., who has been their house guest.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Molone, Miss Leola Isabel of Los Angeles and Jack Bell of the same city, after spending Sunday at Big Pines in the San Bernardino mountains, returned to Glendale the same night, getting here just before the earthquake, which none of them knew anything about until they heard of it this morning.

Letters from Dr. Laura Brown of this city, written en route on the auto and camping trip on which she is accompanying Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison, state that on Friday they were at Avila near Pismo beach. Or if the doctor writes: "Here we are on the cunningest cove on the coast," discovered yesterday. "This called 'Fisherman's Paradise.' A native gave us three mackerel which we had for our supper; will catch our own today. Shall I buy a site for the B. and P. W. Club home? Have met Mr. Avila, the last of the Spanish family that received a grant of 16,000 acres of the virgin soil. Will remain here over Sunday."

HEBREW KINGS IS TOPIC OF REV. EDMONDS

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church preached from the passage centering in II Kings 3:16. This story is full of divine parable and practical lesson for us about the work of the Holy Spirit in our lives. It was a parable and a miracle. On the fact of it was an emergency.

The kings of Israel and Judah and Edom combined together to go and fight the king of Moab, over to the eastward. Going thither through the desert they fell into great straits and danger of catastrophe through lack of water. Emergencies come into the life of the believer, but they should be God's opportunity. They sought the counsel of Elisha, and God gave him for them this word: "Make this valley full of ditches. For thus saith the Lord, ye shall not see rain, neither shall ye see rain, yet that valley shall be filled with water, that ye may drink; and this is but a light thing in the sight of the Lord: He will deliver the Moabites also into your hand."

This situation represents any hard place in our lives. Such emergency is the only way many of us can be brought to the fullness of divine grace. Good people, as it was in this case, often bring down trouble upon themselves. The only safety is to live in prayer. Here an alliance had been made with unholiness. You look out—don't do that! God doesn't want such combines. But in the time of trouble the prophet was there, a little Counselor. Note now the command that came through him from God: "Make this valley full of ditches." A ditch is nothing fine, but it presupposes something is to be put into it, it represents preparation. God never intends it shall remain only a ditch. God shall supply all your ditches. "Thus saith the Lord, ye shall see no wind," we should expect some rain to come up. But God does not propose there shall be; there is going to be power but no demonstration. God loves to bless this way. This is an age of demonstration—people love it. That may be well, but if it is all you have, then no. The sunrise makes no noise; your light will shine without your making a noise. When Christ was on the cross, no noise.

But those men in the morning went out to look at the valley of ditches, and the country was filled with water. The critics will say a water stratum had been dug in that were but a ditch. He led the enemy hosts to their destruction. God's work meets all that is needed.

There should be a spiritual dynamic to go out and do. Israel then had to go on and pursue and annihilate the enemy; there was to be no sitting down. For us there is no sitting down, this is a time of victory ahead, this is not a terminal. They had to push that work thoroughly; the only way of safety for the believer is to do thorough work. Thanks be unto God who ever giveth us the victory!

"SUPPOSING" TOPIC OF REV. DR. FUNK

Dr. Funk used the word "Supposing" for his subject at the morning service, taking Luke 11:14 for his text. "Suppositions are easily formed. The fact is that suppositions are often nothing more or less than white lies. For a convenient or an easy way out of things, all you need to do is to suppose something to suit the occasion."

"Indeed, when we come to think about it, supposing is a very serious matter. I heard of some one supposing that a noise in the night was caused by a burglar, resulting in the death of a member of the family. And, oh, how many persons have lost their lives by supposing that the revolver was not loaded. Most business failures are the result of over- sanguine expectations."

"Isaac supposed that Jacob was Esau. And, while Jacob managed to pull the wool over his father's eyes, he also found that he had made an awful mistake in supposing that he was being married to Rachel instead of Leah. Of course, he was told that it was not the custom to marry the younger daughter until the older had been joined in the bond of matrimony. "No, it don't pay to be. If you cannot make your business good without lying about it, you had better get out of the business, for you will find in the end it does not pay. There are no truly successful liars."

"Our lesson would indicate that the mother of Jesus was not a goddess, for she supposed that the boy Jesus was among the kinkfolk or friends. Some of our parents, whose sons and daughters are not as reliable as Jesus was, are making an awful blunder in supposing that the young girl is perfectly safe without making an investigation of the character of her company."

'DARKEST DAYS OF HAVANA' AT THE T. D. & L.

The degree to which soldiers of the Spanish crown were taught to hate Cuban patriots, in the black days before that country's emancipation from tyrannical oppression, is vividly illustrated on the screen today and tomorrow at the T. D. & L. theatre in the John S. Robertson picture version of Joseph Hergesheimer's "The Bright Shawl" in which Richard Barthelmess stars.

In one scene the body of a Cuban patriot, who died from marsh fever, is smuggled out of his home under cover of darkness after his face had been disfigured by his own relatives that he might not be recognized. Had it been learned that he had been harbored in the home, all members of the family would have been summarily executed, for there was a price on his head.

At the river bank the buried party is intercepted by a Spanish sentry with fixed bayonet.

When the father explains that he has killed an insolent servant the sentry grins, jabs his bayonet into the huddled figure and passes on, shrugging his shoulders.

BIG BUSINESS IS GOING IN FOR SPORTS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 21.—Big business is beginning to realize the worth of sports.

A few years ago employers in the major factories and business houses looked upon sport merely as a recreation and took no hand. Now it is considered a part of the business.

Baseball grounds, athletic tracks, football fields and tennis courts are being constructed by nearly every big plant, in the realization that such recreation may take the place of the old corner saloon. It increases the efficiency of the workers and holds them to their jobs.

Perhaps the largest undertaking of this kind has been launched by the Westinghouse Electric company, which has organized what is known as "The Westinghouse Athletic Association." The company employs more than 30,000 persons and its monthly payroll averages over $425,000.

The organization pays for itself from admissions, which are carefully handled by a board of directors.

Girls' activities are under a separate association. They play baseball, tennis and basketball. At present they have one baseball team, two basketball teams and have arranged a tennis tournament.

Seventy-five attend Mrs. Strother's party. About seventy-five couples attended the informal dancing party given Saturday night at the Odd Fellows hall by Mrs. John Strother in honor of her staff of installation officers of the Rebekah lodge, Mrs. Loretta Schwitters assisted Mrs. Strother in receiving the guests. During the evening punch was served. Kelly's four-piece orchestra furnished music for dancing.

Truths in Epigram

We are all clever enough at envying a famous man while he is yet alive, and at praising him when he is dead.—Mimnermus.

The fault lies with the spitefulness of mankind that we always are praising what is old and scorning what is new.—Tacitus.

We shall be perfectly virtuous when there is no more flesh on our bones.—Marguerite de Valois.

REMEMBERING THE MAINE

Admiral Sigsbee, retired, who as captain was in command of the Maine when it was blown up in Havana harbor, has just passed away. He was a gallant officer on that occasion, and his death is a loss to the navy. The explosion made the war a certainty. It was supposed to have been the work of the enemy, a specific informal declaration of hostilities. It cannot be said that the truth concerning the cause of the explosion ever was determined with exactitude. It is quite possible that the accident arose from conditions on board ship, and could have occurred had the ship been in a friendly port or on the high seas. Whatever the explanation, war with Spain became inevitable when, apparently by the act of a foreign foe, one of the mighty ships—mighty as naval units then were reckoned—went to the bottom.

The war with Spain was, as wars have since been observed by the world, a small affair. It was a peculiar war, based on altruism, so far as this country was concerned. In waging it the United States had no purpose but to serve humanity. Its devotion to this principle has been attested since. Cuba fell into its hands, only to be rehabilitated and granted liberty. The Philippines came into its possession in accordance with the rules of war, and yet were not accepted until this government voluntarily had paid Spain millions of dollars for the islands. Spain was directly benefited by getting rid of the islands for it had been incapable of controlling them, and found no profit in holding them.

In behalf of the people of the islands the United States has expended vast sums. The islands constitute a liability. There is no telling what might have become of them had not the strong presence of this government stabilized them. They could have been the prey of any of several powers, or they could have fallen into anarchy attributable to the ignorance of the natives and the selfishness of the native politicians. Those politicians even now are seeking to undo the good work of the United States. They are wholly unappreciative and ungrateful. They do not, as they clamor for a power that they are anxious to abuse, form a very pleasing spectacle. Some day, when they are fit, the islands will be made independent. They are not fit yet. This country, in continuing to protect them against themselves, is adhering to performance of duty, still guided by the altruistic spirit, and thus vindicating the war that was precipitated by the tragedy of the Maine.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

An editorial excerpt from the Los Angeles Express of July 18, 1873, a half century ago, is of singular interest. After taking a sly dig at San Diego, between which and the nearby city there seems to have been rivalry, it says:

"Our business men are lacking in that lucid foresight which conjures great cities up out of solitary wilds. Here we have everything that nature could give for a great commercial emporium. Let some of our live men wake up to the duty of the hour."

Evidently the writer of that paragraph was a man of vision. It may be that he was inclined to be pessimistic. On the other hand, it may have been his purpose to give the community a jolt. Something awakened it, this much is a certainty. It may be supposed that a community destined to amount to anything will progress much in fifty years. Nevertheless the work of the fifty years that have passed since the lines quoted were written, has been extraordinary. Into that space the aroused spirit of the community may be said to have crowded the accomplishment of centuries. Fifty years back Los Angeles was an unpromising patch, while of the rich and cultivated area around it, with its busy cities, there was nothing but a waste of land, that well might have discouraged the hope of production. Now the cultivated acres of Los Angeles county yield more wealth than any other county of the United States.

Starting as the advance has been, in a larger sense the development of this region has just begun. The world is learning the advantages available here, and is coming to participate. The climate itself is an asset not equalled elsewhere. The scenic beauty is a lure. But there is cheap power, there are resources never dreamed of in the olden day. There are advanced methods of transportation, a great harbor. And there is no need to call upon the people to awaken.

THE MODERN SOLOMON

Superior Judge Hewitt has just rendered a decision that must have called into play the finest discretion. He has awarded a child of five years to her foster mother, setting aside the claims of the real mother. On another occasion and in a different state the case had been tried, the decision in that instance being the same as Judge Hewitt's.

It is not often that the courts supply a story of more poignant human interest. The child had been born out of wedlock. The mother's married sister aided in the pretense that the child was her own, while the real mother posed as an aunt. When afterwards the mother had married and confided the truth to her husband, he agreed to aid her in obtaining the child. It was this that led to court action, and the victory of the foster mother.

Analysis of the feelings of the two women was not part of the duty of the court. The judge confined himself to consideration of the welfare of the child. Both women loved her; each seemed to be convinced that the happiness of the little one could best be promoted by the granting of the prayer in accordance with the individual view, the views absolutely in conflict. The mother was stricken with grief at losing. The foster mother would have been equally stricken had the outcome been the other way. It is a significant fact, however, that the several sisters of the two litigants are glad of the decision.

Surely this case was out of the usual order. It was not to be construed in consonance with written law. Its adjudication required kindness and wisdom, and a broader knowledge of human nature than is to be found in books.

CITY PLANNING

The whole community naturally takes an interest in the fact that Los Angeles, already a great city, is planning also to be beautiful. One of the details requires the widening of Wilshire boulevard to the sea and the inhibition of business structures along it. The boulevard is to be parked and artistically adorned.

Now come a lot of persons desirous of using the thoroughfare for business purposes. They hold that the part of wisdom would be to surrender a portion of it to small mercantile concerns. These would include peanut stands, butcher shops, shaving emporiums, their presence signified by striped poles. Here and there doubtless would appear the junk establishment, and the greasy resort of the automobile in need of repair. In other words, the granting of the concession demanded would utterly spoil the program endorsed by the real lovers of the city, and those having concern for its future.

If civic pride is a force to be reckoned with at all, the scheme to mar the boulevard will be defeated. It is not as though the defeat would work any hardship on business. There is abundant space for the store and the factory without permitting them to invade an area that if improved in the proper fashion would be a credit to the whole city, making it slightly and attractively, and accentuating the fact that business is not the sole consideration.

History and the Censor

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Said a wise and slightly bored mother the other day to her brood of five:

"I love you because I bore you, but if you want my respect you will have to win it."

It was such an extraordinary point of view for a mother that I asked her if she had always talked that way to the youngsters who, by the way, are an extraordinarily fine lot.

"Yes," she replied, "why not? Will my children ever have any respect they do not earn? You know that they will not; in view of that why should I not begin in their early years to teach them that respect is something that must be earned and give them practice in earning it."

That strikes me as being one of the best things I ever heard a mother say. Most women seem to feel almost hysterically that they have done their whole duty by their children when they have loved them, wildly, selfishly, passionately, wisely or unwisely as their natures may dictate. And if to this love they add the reiterated assurance that they are doing right, they will "break their poor mother's heart," they feel that they have achieved a fine job at training.

But the little woman whose attitude so astonished me believes that children are rather easily bored by too much affection, especially when it descends on them gratis, that the quickest possible way to lose your influence over anybody is to bore them.

"I never want my children to doubt my love," she said. "Neither do I want them to presume on it to do things that they would not do if they did not feel that a certain amount of indulgence was back of them. I can love people very intensely without approving of their conduct, which seems to me one quality that fits me for motherhood. In our home my respect and approval are the rewards of labor applied to human relations. I hold that that fact makes my home a training ground for wider social contacts."

"It is a fixed rule in our house that no member of the family is to be good simply because being bad would be likely to crack my brittle heart. My brood must be good for other and better reasons. They must be good because it pays, because worthy conduct is the best guaranty for happiness and because only by right living can they advance spiritually or financially."

"I've watched children grow up in homes that worked on the sinning and forgiving method; I've watched them grow up smothered in love that was so 'protecting' that the children hated it as they hated bolts and bars, and I decided to raise my brood on a half-and-half plan, love as a matter of nature, respect as a reward of merit, with added a free discussion of the children's views as well as mine."

"I am the superior officer at our house merely because my experience and knowledge fit me to be the leader. Oppressive respect from my children would bore me quite as much as oppressive love from me would bore them, and the highest compliment they ever pay me is when they tell their friends that 'Mother is a darn good sport.'"

THE RIGHT WORD

SUGGESTIONS ON THE USE OF "I"

(Find the error in this article) Without giving reasons for the following suggestions, readers of "The Right Word" are urged to study the examples and thereby improve their speech.

The pronoun "I" is much abused in that it is often incorrectly replaced by "me." In the following sentences never use "me."

1. It is I.
2. You are as tall as I.
3. He would like to be I.
4. Is he stronger than I?
5. Q.—Who will lend me a pencil? A.—I.
6. Q.—Who is there? A.—I.
7. There are you, John and I to be considered.
8. It is you and I who will suffer.

The next article will give examples of the correct use of me.

Vocabulary

Inept means not fit or suitable; unapt; not consistent with reason or sound sense; absurd; inappropriate; unbecoming.

Queries

G. V. H. submits the following sentence for correction in respect to them: "The faculty of buying and the faculty of selecting are of the same the merchant who possesses them to an extent etc." Them is correct because it refers to two things, the faculty of buying and the faculty of selecting.

THE LISTENING POST

The road to Easy street.
Many persons are seeking it.
Its beauties and favors have been often rehearsed.

JAMES W. FOLEY

He is "on Easy Street" to use the vernacular.

Some fortunate turn of the tide or flow of the oil or yield of the mine has put him there.

The road to Easy street.
No chores to do and no time clock to punch and no orders to obey.

Comfortable cars to drive about in and golf links to play on and clubs to frequent and dinners to eat and the like.

Truly it holds many charms.

And so the papers and magazines offer many ways to find it.
Large salaries offered for the experience to be gained by a few weeks of study.

And many of the unwary are lured to part with their money to learn the road to Easy street.

JAMES W. FOLEY

Stock speculations.
A fortunate investment and you have found the way to Easy street.

A lucky investment in oil.
And you have found the way to Easy street. Nothing hard about it.

All you have to do is to "strike it right" and you have found the way to Easy street.

And when you get to Easy street?
Nothing to do but jazz around.
Travel perhaps.
Wear good clothes.
Eat the best food.
Theatres and moving pictures and one thing and another.

All on Easy street.

A praiseworthy life to be sure.
No tasks done.
No day's pay earned.
No grain planted or reaped or roads builded or things done.

A willingness to take all of toil's contribution and give back nothing.

And perhaps that is another thing to be remedied.
Too many people looking for Easy street.
Which is the home of idlers and parasites and drones and cheats and their ilk.

For no man or woman of sound mind wishes to live on Easy street.

Get on your working clothes and join the crowd on Work avenue.

And let the fools and idlers and drones and their like seek the way to Easy street.

Songs of the Poets

Sic Vita—By William Stanley Braithwaite

Heart free, hand free,
Blue above, brown under,
All the world to me
Is a place of wonder.
Sun shine, moon shine,
Stars and wind a-blowing,
All into this heart of mine
Flowing, flowing, flowing!

Mind free, step free,
Days to follow after,
Joys of life sold to me
For the price of laughter.
Girl's love, man's love,
Love of work and duty,
Just a will of God's to prove
Beauty, beauty, beauty!

THOUGHT IS THE TROUBLE MAKER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THOUGHT is the trouble maker of the world. If it were not for the thinkers, kings might go on undisturbed spending in play the cream of the nation's toil, and trust might keep sleek as fatted swine, and superstition rule forever, and old frauds flourish as eternal oaks.

It is the thinker that is at the bottom of every revolution. He splits parties and churches, he sows discontent among the lowly, and makes the magnificent ones of earth suspect their privilege.

Thought brings down them that sit on high, and the despised and rejected of men it raises up.

Thought is the loyal friend of demons. It is always for the many against the few. The sure and selfish cry out, "They that turn the world upside down have come hither also!"

Thought is always modern, and more, it is a futurist, it is the abiding heretic, the ever present disturber of the peace. Thought is the "angel that troubleth the pool."

"These turbid currents, and the dregs upheaval
And floating scum
Of sewer and slum;
They beat at bonds and mummy medieval.
Thought, for the fools who heed no warning swell,
Prepares its hell."

It is interesting to read the story of evolution, how creatures were built up and species improved, and how the race of mankind has slowly lifted itself out of barbarism into civilization.

But more interesting it is to observe the sure and gradual accretion of thought, how the edifice of ideas has unceasingly risen out of the field of confusion.

It is interesting to note how the condition of mankind has been rapidly improved by one invention after another. And every invention was but a thought.

Thought is not only the great constructive force in the world. Thought eats its way into ancient frauds and at last they crumble. And at the same time thought, like the buried acorn, pushes upward as a mighty tree.

Man the animal is contemptible; the elephant and the lion are stronger than he. But man the thinker is considerable.

The man sits astride the horse and makes the animal go where he will; yet the horse is more powerful than the man. The secret of it all is that the man knows how to put a bit in the horse's mouth and the horse does not know how to spit it out.

(Copyright, 1923, by Dr. Frank Crane)

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Germany is warned to prepare for civil war, which even to a country better conditioned would be a large order.

If Soviets export grain they surely ought first to feed their own breadline.

Apparently the native help that General Wood received in running the Philippines has been his worst handicap.

Reports that a $2,000,000 cargo of whisky has been landed at Half Moon Bay probably is more than half moonshine.

It would appear that the real farmer in the Magnus Johnson establishment is Mrs. Johnson.

A bunko man accusing of graft the policeman who arrests him does not make an impressive witness.

Policeman Bethel of Los Angeles receives something above $6000 for killing two robbers, a fair rate per scalp.

A proprietary interest in a flight film would seem to represent the absolute zero of ownership.

Texas does not seem to view seriously the plan of the I. W. W. to administer its affairs.

American missionaries in Turkey are charged with hostility to Kemal. Perhaps they are guilty, it being their general policy to fight evil.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

PAYS TO ADVERTISE

[Lowell Courier-Citizen]

Henry Ford is the present shining example of the results of personal advertising. Whether he intended it or not, he has become one of the best known men in the country; and he has attained that eminence simply because newspapers have talked about him and therefore, people in general have talked about him. Just now he is having a hard time dodging a widespread demand that he be a candidate for president—if he is really dodging. The surprising thing is that thousands of people in all sections of the country, without knowing Henry Ford himself, or anything about him except such facts as may have been gleaned by hearsay or by reading, have centered upon him for chief magistrate of the nation. Special qualifications for the position do not interest many of these supporters of Mr. Ford. They simply know that he exists and they have been attracted by achievements recorded in his career. This advertising has produced results. Mr. Ford is nationally advertised and is likely to continue to be. Capitalized in dollars and cents, this advertising result would mean millions to a commodity-selling drive. To Mr. Ford it means only a doubtful political commitment, which he can accept or reject as he sees fit.

PROSPERITY'S HIGH TIDE

[Brooklyn Standard Union]

The records of the postoffice department indicate there is no recession in the tide of prosperity which is flooding the country.

The fifty cities which are taken by the post office department as an index of general conditions reported a gain of 11.29 per cent in postal business in May this year over May last year, and a gain of 26 per cent over May, 1921.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Two former deputy sheriffs of Los Angeles county are in the penitentiary, with the prospect of remaining for many years.

Once they had been trusted by their superior and by the public. Due to their activities desperate criminals have been caught. When they went after a man they got him. Sometimes an inquest was made necessary by the sincerity of their effort not to come back empty-handed, but they never had killed anybody whose demise represented a social loss. They were extremely useful officers.

One day they were offered a large bribe, and they could not resist the temptation. They were caught, found guilty, made every effort to squirm out, but in the end, took their medicine. They hope for pardons; possibly may be pardoned in time, but their reputations are gone, and cannot be retrieved.

HENRY JAMES

The Washington correspondent who says that President Harding is backing General Wood, probably does not know anything about it. He merely jumps to the very natural conclusion that the President will do the seemly and proper thing.

It would be a queer administration that would send a representative out on the firing line, and condemn him for being shot at.

Among the rumors coming from Germany is one setting forth the danger of a civil war.

There has been nothing to indicate that the Germans are getting into the mood this would indicate. They are held together partly by their inherent devotion to authority, and partly by the consuming hatred for France. Doubtless any sign of impending civil war might be traced to the presence of the reds, the emissaries of bolshevism.

Russia is said to be planning the export of $150,000,000 worth of raw products, mostly foodstuffs. The figures are given by Krassin, who is reputed to be a smart man. Nevertheless the Baltic press is sneering at his figures, ascribing them to some statistician. Figures often are used to put fiction across.

Search for the meanest man may as well cease. He has been found. For weeks he has been stealing a daily paper from a blind newsie of New York, although quite competent to pay for it.

At last they have caught a specimen of the bunko men who swindle by the ancient "charity" game. The pretense is made that a large sum has been left to be distributed to the poor, and there is quest for a proper agent for the benign job. Of course the agent must give security, and being an imbecile, he gives it. Society owes protection even to the imbecile.

Texas is threatened by an invasion by I. W. W. It already has the K. K. K.

If these two forces could be set to fighting each other, the general social tone of Texas might be elevated.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE EVENING ROMPER

The warm spring evenings bring out the children for their evening frolic. Sometimes it gets past bearing for the tired people resting on the porches under the trees.

Somebody gets an old tin pail and begins kicking it along the walk. Its din is shattering. The grown ups along the streets groan and murmur: "That's that awful Smith child. Believe me, if that child was mine, I'd warn him so he needn't take such strenuous exercise! On a hot summer evening, too!"

Noises like that are louder and harder to bear than they are on the cool nights. If children must run and race about in the twilight, which is doubtful, couldn't they have a ball? A soft ball that will not hurt if it hits a child in the dark, nor break windows that cannot be seen clearly.

On the lower corner there is a group playing with a dog. He barks furiously and chases them readily up and down the street. Screaming like wild men they hurtle across the lawns and dash around the corners. "Yow, yow, yow," barks the enthusiastic hound, "Eow-w-w-w" scream the children.

"One of those children is going to get hurt dashing about the streets like that," rumbled the watching porchers. "It's a wonder their parents wouldn't stop them. Yelling and screeching like that! And that dog!"

From the block in back comes the wheeze of harmonicas. The small boys have gathered on Wells' side porch and they are giving a concert to the unwilling audience. Heads wagging, feet stamping, little girls shrilly chanting, music fills the air.

"Mercy me! Don't they ever go to bed?" groans a sufferer as the wind brings a whiff of raw melody, louder than usual, to her aching ears. "Should think their mother would put them to bed in self-defence."

"Mothers are deaf to their children's noises," says the teacher dryly. "Only the other mothers' children make noises that are unbearable! Each mother hears only music in the tones of her brood's voices."

Children must romp a bit before bedtime of a summer evening. But violent play is not the thing they need. Chasing a dog or kicking a tin can or playing hide and seek through the house, banging door after door and screaming as each slams behind them, is not the setting for quiet rest.

The harmonica concert, excruciating as it is, is understandable. The children are working off their last ounce of superfluous energy and doing it without violence. But the racing, howling group are getting past the fatigue point and they will be hard to quiet.

Consider the neighbors in the evening. Plan for a quiet bit of play. It will make life a little pleasanter.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The old professor has just concluded his thirtieth year as principal of our town's schools. Think of it. Thirty years! He has grown with the town and the schools have grown with him. He came to it a raw, serious, rather heavy-handed youth and is known across a continent because of the quality of graduates he has turned out.

"I have kept a record of them," he said last night. "For thirty years."

He didn't bother to keep tab on the girls when he began. But every boy who graduated was assessed by the old school master as to health, energy, talent or the lack of it, honesty and ambition.

"Oddly enough," he said, "the boys I regarded as the brightest ones in their classes are by no means the ones that have made the most enduring success."

He believes that industry and integrity, coupled, will assure a career to any one ambitious enough to desire it. The man who has gone farthest was a dumb-bell in school. He is not rich, but every scientist in the world knows his name. The name to whom the old professor has the most regard added to his excellent natural qualities the ability to keep his mind open to new impressions. Nothing new in religion or art or science or politics escapes his inquiries.

"His wife and children study with him," said the old man. "He has raised the finest family I know. The exploration of a new field of knowledge is a constant adventure to them."

In his thirty years a man a genius has passed under his hands. Every class of American youth has at least one genius, he says. Yet not one has made himself known to the world as a genius.

"A moderate success was too easy for them," he said. "They would not work hard for a greater triumph."

MIDDLE WEST IS STRONG FOR DRY LEGISLATION

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, July 23.—The question of enforcing prohibition laws came up recently in the legislatures of 14 central states, and action was taken as follows:

Illinois

The 53rd general assembly enacted no "wet" legislation.

Two "dry" bills were passed. One of them provides for a fund for the enforcement of prohibition drawn from fines collected for violations of the law, prosecuted by the state's attorneys and the attorney-general. This bill will relieve tax-payers of the burden of enforcement, and, it is believed, create a surplus.

Indiana

Four bills, two of which amended laws already in force, having to do with strengthening of the state prohibition law, were passed by the Indiana general assembly at its recent session and have been signed by Governor Warren T. McCray.

The bills, briefly, provide that: Persons operating vehicles while under the influence of liquor shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not exceeding $500, to which shall be added a jail sentence of from ten days to six months. Persons convicted a second time are guilty of felony, punishable with a jail sentence of from one to five years.

It is unlawful to have in possession or under control any still for manufacturing intoxicating liquor in violation of the laws of the state. Persons caught so doing are guilty of felony, punishable by from one to five years imprisonment and a fine ranging from $100 to $1,000. Possession of any still or distilling apparatus not registered according to the provisions of the laws of the United States shall be prima facie evidence that such possession was for the purpose of manufacturing intoxicating liquor.

Anyone transporting liquor in any vehicle, or by water or aircraft, shall be guilty of a felony, punishable by from one to two years imprisonment and a fine not to exceed $1,000.

A fine ranging from $100 to $500 and 30 days to six months imprisonment is provided for the first conviction on charge of giving away, selling, bartering, etc., of intoxicating liquor. Second offense punishable by imprisonment of from one to two years and $200 to $1,000 fine.

Iowa

Seven new prohibition laws were enacted by the Iowa legislature, which adjourned July 27. A summary of them follows:

Bills defining the sale of liquor that causes death as manslaughter; declaring illegal the possession of materials with which to make liquor; extending search and seizure laws to cover these materials; making the driving of a motor car while intoxicated subject to a penalty of $1,000 fine or one year in prison; applying a special penalty for the misdemeanor of furnishing liquor to a minor; providing for the confiscation of vehicles used to transport liquor; and defining any person twice convicted of liquor crimes as a persistent violator.

Kansas

When the law makers of Kansas 40 years ago enacted the first prohibition law they did not anticipate that the control of "moonshiners" would ever become a state problem. Nor in later years when the prohibition laws were tightened up by the "bone dry" and other enactments, did they contemplate any "moonshine" menace. So it befell the 1923 Kansas legislature to place an "anti-moonshine" law on the statute books. This law provides a penalty of six months in jail and a fine up to $500 for any one found guilty of having a still in his possession.

Heretofore the mere possession of a still was not necessarily evidence of guilt; it was necessary to prove trafficking in liquor. It was necessary that the officers produce as evidence the liquor "sold, bartered or given away."

Two bills were introduced in the recent legislature to make the sale of liquor causing death first degree murder, but both bills were killed in committee.

The federal internal revenue collector's efforts to collect taxes from "moonshiners" whose stills may be seized, is made easier by a new law which makes the filing of such federal tax lien with the register deed of any county equivalent to a chattel mortgage against the property of the alleged illicit liquor maker.

Michigan

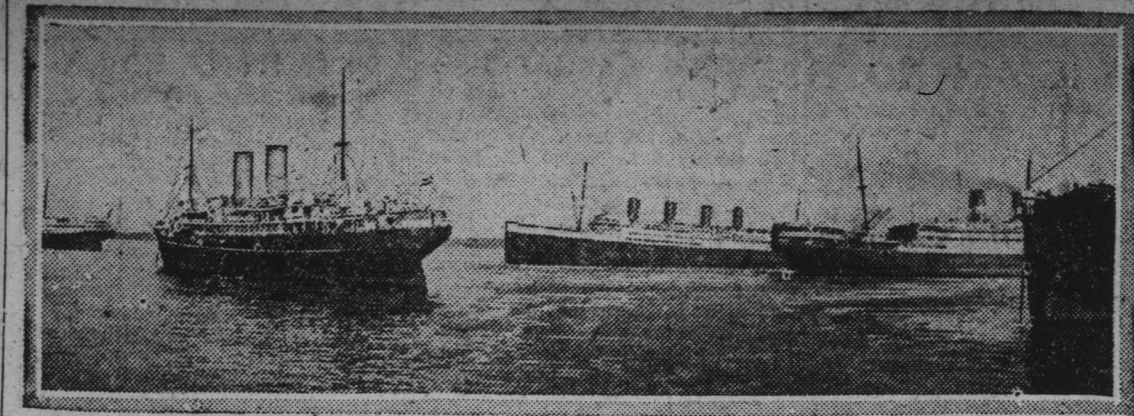

No prohibition bills were passed. Three were introduced with the sponsorship of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, suggesting that driving while intoxicated be made a felony, furnishing poisonous liquor punishable as manslaughter, and that proprietors of soft drink establishments and pool rooms be required to waive their rights under the search and seizure laws. All passed one branch, but died in committee in the other.

Minnesota

With the passage of amendments by the 1923 legislature to prohibition laws in effect, Minnesota stands out pre-eminently in having the most drastic prohibition laws of any state in the Union.

Under the provisions of the new county officers for one offense of

Liners Awaiting July Race to Land Immigrant Quota at New York

Eleven steamships, several of which had been laying at anchor for several days in the lower bay, raced to get in first and land their 11,482 immigrants. This was the largest number to seek admittance to the United States at any one time since the enactment of the selective quota law in 1921. The race began at six minutes after midnight on July 1. The photograph shows part of the fleet waiting in the lower bay.

RETAIL TRADE IS DESCRIBED BY BABSON

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 23.—Roger W. Babson, who has been visiting his parents here for a few days, issued the following statement as he left the city:

"Every group of people today has its problems. Employers have their difficulties; wage workers have their struggles; and professional men have their temptations. The greatest practical problem, however, is faced by the retailers of our average community. Surely they have problems to confront; in fact, our retailers are up against four fundamental difficulties.

(1) Increased number of retailers. Investigation fails to find a single city in the United States where, during the past ten years, the number of retailers has not increased at a greater rate than the population. To put it in another way, the number of retailers is increasing everywhere more rapidly than the population.

(2) Increased cost of doing business. Retailers are faced today with increased rents, increased wages, increased taxes, and increases in almost every department of their business. Of course, this is largely a natural result of the increase in the number of retailers. For instance, in most cities the retail section is limited to a certain area, and as the demand for retail stores increases, rents increase also.

(3) Automobile sales. The automobile is effecting the retailers in our larger cities. During the past few years people have been getting out of the habit of using street cars and walking to the retail stores. They have been coming in automobiles instead. Just now as they have formed the intoxication. Under previous laws, removal required conviction on three counts.

The other bill requires county officers who seize liquor to make triplicate reports of the amount, one copy going to the person accused of possessing the liquor, the second to the county clerk, and the third to be retained by the sheriff. This measure also charges the sheriff with keeping seized liquor until ordered destroyed.

Wisconsin

The Severson law, Wisconsin's prohibition enforcement statute, emerged from the present session of the legislature unscathed despite attacks from wet forces.

When wets and drys took stock of their accomplishments after the defeat of the final bill aimed at the repeal of the Severson law, was successful by a five vote margin in the lower house, but met decisive defeat in the senate. Indefinite postponement was given the proposal 19 to 12 by the upper house, without any preceding discussion.

An attempt to modify the enforcement statute by restricting the search and seizure clause, a move openly sponsored by Governor Blaine and favored by the assembly, was stopped short by adverse senate action.

Several other attacks on the dry law met defeat when they ran against the senate dry majority. With every wet measure killed beyond the possibility of revival, the Wisconsin liquor statute stands unamended for another two years. This statute was enacted by the 1921 legislature, and is supported by the Anti-Saloon league.

tailers must remember that they are the servants of the customer and are not in business to gouge the customer. The retailer whose chief interest is in his customer has a good business today and is sure to prosper in the years to come. Retailers need not worry about 'cash and carry' systems or other new fangled schemes provided they will give service. People are willing to pay for service and retailers who give real service at fair city prices enjoy real prosperity.

(3) Establish Better Relations with Manufacturers. One of the greatest advantages which the chain stores have is their intimate relations with the manufacturers from whom they buy their goods. It would be possible for retailers to establish such a relationship if they would only invest their money in the stocks of the companies from which they buy. For instance, if a grocer, instead of buying mining, oil, and other stocks, would invest his savings in the National Biscuit company, Quaker Oats company, American Sugar Refining company, etc., he would then establish a relationship which would soon be very valuable. One sees very clearly what this would mean if a large group should combine their stock holdings and vote their stock as a group.

(4) Study Business Conditions. Retailers must give more thought and study to the conditions of the country as a whole. The average retailer must realize that his business depends a great deal upon the business conditions of the entire country, yes, of the entire world. This is necessary in order to know when to buy and when not to buy, when to borrow and when not to borrow, when to advertise and when not to advertise.

"It is true that the retailers of our country are faced with four tremendous problems, but I believe that all of these problems can be met if the better retailers will only organize and fight collectively: First, to get customers; second, to give better service; third, to establish stronger relations with the companies from which they buy; and fourth, to study business conditions in general. Today business is about normal as indicated by the Babsonchart. What the future is to show will largely be determined by the attitude of the nation's retailers. It is commonly said that the stock market discounts industrial changes. Certainly the retailers discount stock market changes. The retailer is primarily responsible both for the high prices of over-expansion and the buyer's strikes with the depressions that follow."

BURBANK MAN DIES IN AUTO WRECK SUNDAY

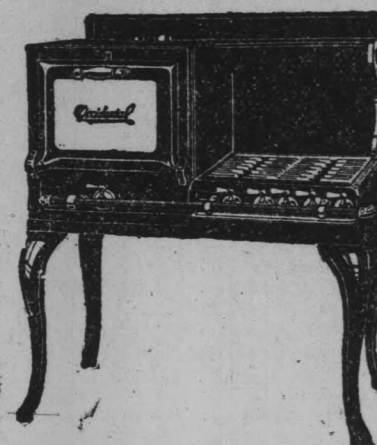

Emmanuel Bracamont of Burbank was killed yesterday when the automobile he was driving collided with a truck in the 2800 block on San Fernando road. He was thrown and his neck broken by the impact. His brother, Antonio, and a friend, Jesus Salaya, were painfully hurt in the same accident. J. L. Fansett, 755 Doran street, Glendale, driver of the truck, was cut and bruised.

THE SOWER

JAMES W. FOLEY

It was so insignificant, 'twas scarcely worth attention,
A little seed somebody dropped beside the garden wall;
And then a tiny shoot appeared, too delicate to mention,
Until one day I saw it there, grown graceful and so tall;
And one day at a later time I passed that way in going
Along the path beside the wall and over it there spread
Great leaves of green and in among were crimson blossoms glowing,
Along the wall and some were clustered far above my head.

It was so rare and beautiful I stopped for long and longer,
To see the blossoms glowing there in such a glad array;
The tiny shoot that day by day had thriven and grown stronger,
Until it covered quite the wall with gorgeous flowers that day.
And who could know who dropped that seed what gladness was to follow,
What store of beauty to the world was added by a seed
So small and insignificant that fell here in this hollow
Beside the wall to gladden me when my soul was in need.

And so perhaps in souls of men some little seed in sowing
Had fallen quite unnoticed by the sower who has passed;
Through day and night and day again the seed has kept on growing,
To flower with gorgeous blossoms of fine spirit at the last.
Who sowed the seed I do not know, or what breeze blew it,
The soil to burst the shell and send its tiny shoot up through
It is enough that some day we shall stand and look and wonder
What mighty things for beauty just a little deed may do.

"FOR YOUR APPROVAL"

FOUR CLASSES OF HEARERS SAYS THE REV. H. KRINGLE

There are four classes of hearers in the divine word! What class do you belong to? These were the questions asked by Rev. Henry O. Kringle at the services of the Concordia Lutheran congregation Sunday morning. His theme was "The Sower and His Seed," as taken from St. Luke 8, 4-15.

The speaker said, in part: "A sower went out to sow his seed, and as he sowed some fell by the wayside, and it was trodden down and the fowl of the air devoured it. This is the beginning of the parable. And here is the explanation. The seed is the word of God. Those by the wayside are they that hear; then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved."

"So there is a class or men whose hearts resemble the wayside. When the sower walks along the edge of the field, casting out his seed by the handful, some of the seed will, perhaps, get beyond the tilled soil and fall on the road where it is crushed under the feet of those who walk by and the birds come and devour it. What a striking illustration of some of the hearers of the divine word! There are some such people as get an occasional seed of God's word—a stray seed, so to say, which falls on the wayside. They are not regular attendants at church. They drop in occasionally, or when something is going on, or they attend the divine service merely to please someone else. Still, they hear as Christ says. But what fate does the holy word of God meet with when they hear it proclaimed to them. It is trodden down and crushed. As the fowl of the air picks up the seed on the wayside so does the devil take away from their hearts the divine word, so there is not a trace of it left to do them any good, to save them from his power, from sin and from death, and to fill their souls with true consolation and with the hope of eternal life.

"The second class are they whose hearts resemble the rocky soil. When the seed drops on the rock which is covered with a thin layer of ground the moisture in the soil and heat from above will cause it to sprout in a short time; and the blades will come forth very promising. Alas! There is no room in such thin layer for the roots to grow. This is a portraiture of not a few hearers of the divine word.

"The third class of hearers deriving enduring benefit from the hearing of the divine word, are those who resemble the thorny soil. The Lord says in the parable, 'And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it.' And this is the explanation: And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection.

"The seed which falls on the thorny soil will surely grow. But the thorns will also grow; and thorns are weeds that will thrive and get ahead of good plants. In a short while the thorns will be masters of the field, and the good seed will be choked and retarded in its growth so that it will not yield fruit to perfection. And thus it is with many hearers of the divine word. They have earthly cares and earthly troubles which draw away their minds from heaven. They chase after riches and have set their mind on wealth. They seek worldly enjoyments and do not shrink back of partaking of those sinful pleasures in which the children of this world find their joy. In short, they want to serve two masters, God and the world. And that is a thing which no man can do.

"My friends, let us always be careful not to resist within ourselves when we hear what God has to say to us. Let us always submit to the divine influence of God's word, namely, to repent of our sins and to believe in Christ. Our hearts shall then resemble neither the wayside nor the rocky soil, nor the thorny soil, but the good ground as Christ says: 'But that on the good ground are they, which in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.'"

HOUSEWIVES AT COKER & TAYLOR

Fifty at the Demonstration in Cooking School

About fifty housewives of Glendale, all of whom showed intense interest, attended the cooking school demonstration at Coker & Taylor's salesroom on South Brand Friday afternoon, conducted by Mrs. Border.

The special lesson of the day was on the use of the goods put out by the Corn Products Refining company, especially Mazola Oil and Karo syrup. A wonderful cake in which the Mazola oil was used for shortening was exhibited, and part of it served as samples, the balance being won by one of the ladies in attendance.

Mrs. Augusta P. Summerill was the demonstrator and served some delicious maple mousse made with the Karo syrup. Her recipe for the cake follows:

Yolks of eight eggs, the whites of which can be used for angel cake; four and one-half tablespoonsful of Mazola oil, one cup of sugar, one-half cup of milk; one and one-fourth cups of flour, two teaspoonsful of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of flavoring extract. Bake 15 to 20 minutes at 350 degrees of heat.

Attention was called to the fact that the cake on exhibition, baked in a "bottomless oven" of a Direct Action stove, had been left in the oven 15 minutes longer than called for by the recipe, yet had not been injured, because of the gentle heat.

EARTHQUAKE IS FELT SLIGHTLY IN EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, July 23.—Eagle Rock residents had their slumber disturbed at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night by a series of earthquake shocks. Outside of the usual excitement that follows, no disturbances were reported.

Mrs. H. R. Boyer of 232 North Orange street has as her house guests her sister and niece, Mrs. J. K. Wheeler of Kenosha, Wis., and Miss Josephine Loomis of Evanston, Illinois.

HAROLD LLOYD REQUIRES NO ALADDIN

Safety Last at Gateway Theatre is Full of Magic

It's all very well to have an Aladdin at one's service to change one into a different personage or transmute one into a different place. But it's still better to be able to do it yourself—like Harold Lloyd.

Harold never needs to worry about the formula or the magic words for summoning the geni, or about the proper way to twist the ring.

All he has to do is don some grease paint and the well-known spectacles. Then, after he has made up his mind regarding the person he would like to be and the place he'd like to live, he has a little conference with his staff of scenario writers.

That's all the magic necessary to transform Harold Lloyd from a likable young chap into an adventurous sailor, a lovesick coward, a "sunshine" doctor, a $15 per week department store clerk, or any other role he happens to fancy.

Just now this mysterious combination of grease paint, spectacles and scenario writers has transplanted Harold Lloyd to the wilds of an up-to-date American department store in the comedian's new seven-reel Pathe comedy, "Safety Last," which is playing this week at the Gateway theatre. And it might be mentioned that the feature comedy contains more thrills and laughs than any ten pictures put together that have ever been made.

GLENDALE 96—97—98

Our treatments are the same as used by the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium of Battle Creek, Michigan, and consist of diet, exercise, massage, electric light baths, salt glows, hot applications, hot and cold sprays, galvanic and sinusoidal electricity. The laboratories are equipped with fine X-ray machines with the latest stereoscopic improvements.

The efficient methods of treating the sick, combined with a scientific knowledge of the preparations and combinations of foods used in a vegetarian, or so-called non-flesh dietary, gives the patient a well-balanced course of treatment.
